

JASON ANNOUNCES BELT CORPORATION OF AMERICA ACQUISITION

BELT CORPORATION OF AMERICA
A MEGADYNE GROUP CO.

On Friday, August 29th, Jason Industrial concluded the acquisition of Belt Corporation of America (BCA).

Founded in 1985 by William and Maureen Levensalor, Belt Corp. concentrates their efforts mainly in the OEM channel and as a fabricator, providing unique belting solutions for banking, printing, packaging, medical imaging and other images. For many of BCA's early years, the Levensalor's ran the business out of their home in the Atlanta suburb of Cumming and have continued to grow for close to three decades.

The acquisition of Belt Corp. is a highly valuable addition to Jason Industrial and the Megadyne Group as BCA has been a valued customer of ours for many years.

In the August 25th edition of Rubber and Plastics News, Philip Cohenca says of the acquisition "Our global strategy is to have Megadyne/Jason become and be recognized as the world's premier industrial power transmission belt company. To do so, we have committed to putting best in class manufacturing, distribution and fabricating capabilities in each of our major markets - America, Asia and Europe."

Cohenca further adds "The BCA acquisition is a key part of that initiative for the Americas, bringing specialty belting and fabricating expertise to complement the manufacturing prowess provided by TBMC and Megadyne America and the distribution capabilities provided by the Jason network of nine sales/warehousing operations in North America."

Click on link below to view the complete article.

<http://www.rubbernews.com/article/20140825/NEWS/308259995/megadynes-jason-industrial-to-add-belt-manufacturer>

In November, Jason Industrial will host a sales meeting in the Atlanta area allowing us a first hand look at their fabricating and sales operation in Cumming, GA.

Tom Tesoro